In order to improve lead times for 3T, 3.5T, and 5T air conditioner units, new compressors will be used in select models. As a result of this change, two new opportunities arose:

- Consolidation of some models to optimize the portfolio
- Two new models have been developed that will be available at a lower price than their standard counterpart. Some key ratings combinations require that the existing standard model will continue in production.

Please review the tables below for complete details regarding these changes.
